

Hay market September 14

We are hearing that there is some uncertainty in the market at this time. The export market for the higher quality hay is around the $170 and higher level while clean and green hay is indicated to be $120. The export market in Washington is a little weaker with some of the markets now willing to stand on the sidelines until there is a clearer picture for exports. The Idaho market has a tendency to follow this market with a week or so lag time. We heard this morning that the higher end hay could very well trend lower while clean and green hay could trend higher. Keep in mind that it is easier to sell into a market trending higher than one that is trending lower.
